

Media Coverage of ILWU Negotiations with NW Grain Terminals

Here are articles discussing the Governor of Washington Jay Inslee's move to stop security escorts for grain inspectors:

Oregonian, July 24, United Grain operations slow at Port of Vancouver after Gov. Inslee pulls security escorts;

http://www.oregonlive.com/business/index.ssf/2014/07/united_grain_operations_slow_a.html

Oregon Public Broadcasting, July 25, Inslee Calls For Negotiations At Vancouver Grain Terminal, Ends Police Escort For Inspectors; <http://nwpr.org/post/inslee-calls-negotiations-vancouver-grain-terminal-ends-police-escort-inspectors>

Journal of Commerce, July 25, Washington governor's move puts pressure on grain terminal in ILWU dispute; http://www.joc.com/port-news/longshoreman-labor/international-longshore-and-warehouse-union/washington-governor-pulls-state-trooper-escorts-grain-inspectors-labor-dispute-drags_20140725.html

Capital Press, July 23, State inspectors refuse to enter United Grain terminal; <http://www.capitalpress.com/Business/20140723/state-inspectors-refuse-to-enter-united-grain-terminal#.U9fQhPldWos>